

EXCAVATION OF HERCULANEUM

Work Has Become Popular in Italy and Government May Provide the Money.

Rome, Nov. 10.—The proposal to continue the work of excavation at Herclaneum has become so popular as a result of the efforts made by Charles Waldstein, professor of fine arts in King's college, Cambridge, England, that the Italian government is about to take the matter actively in hand.

Signor Rava, the minister of public instruction, upon whom the work actually depends, has prepared a bill to be presented to parliament, which provides for an appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of removing the houses forming the modern town of Resina, which is located over Herclaneum, and an appropriation of $5,000 for the actual excavation work. This latter sum does not include the salaries of officials. In the meanwhile a special commission under the presidency of Professor De Petra of the University of Naples, has undertaken preliminary studies for the commencement of the work.

Professor Waldstein, contrary to the views held by the members of the present Italian cabinet, is in favor of international co-operation to do the work at Herclaneum. He is about to bring out a large volume showing what has been done up to the present time, and setting forth what he considers necessary to insure the completion of the work. He will maintain that if carried out according to modern methods the excavation of Herclaneum will call for an expenditure of $200,000. A contrary opinion is held by a majority of the Italian archeologists, headed by Professor Giacomo Boni, the well-known director of the excavations at the Roman Forum, who declare that it will be impossible to spend more than $3,000 a year if the work is done cleverly and without injury to the buried treasures.

COLUMBIA LACKS FUNDS

President Butler Makes an Earnest Plea for Endowment in His Annual Report.

New York, Nov. 10.—President Butler of Columbia university makes a plea for further endowments in his annual report to the trustees of the university, made public tonight. President Butler says that the amount of gifts received in money during the year amounted to $450,000, and on the subject of gifts adds:

"From the report of the treasurer, it will be seen that for the year ending June 30, 1907, the deficiency in the cost of maintaining the educational work of the university reached the large sum of $58,169. This sum is exclusive of the interest charge of $88,049. Naturally, this result is ground for grave concern. It points once more and with new emphasis to the undeniable fact that Columbia university is not sufficiently endowed to carry on the work which has been laid upon it. The cost of instruction is constantly increasing, and the number of students grows steadily larger. As was shown in detail in the last annual report, the salaries paid to the teaching staff are far from what they should be. Much that is urgently demanded is either not undertaken at all or is insufficiently provided for. It is within the mark to say that an additional free income of $100,000 a year is an absolute necessity if the university is not to restrict its educational opportunities. No effort will be spared to provide this sum, for without it we must face grave embarrassment in the immediate future."

THE DEATH RECORD.

Louis E. McComas.
Washington, Nov. 10.—Louis Emory McComas, associate justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, former United States senator, and for four terms congressman from Maryland, died at his home in this city today. His death was due to heart failure.

Emanuele Gianturco.
Rome, Nov. 10.—Emanuele Gianturco, the Italian minister of public works, died here today from cancer. He was born in 1857.
The pope inquired daily concerning the condition of Signor Gianturco during his illness, and yesterday the Holy father sent the dying man his benediction. These inquiries were the first example of solicitude from the papacy toward a minister the king since the fall of the church from temporal power.

DROWNED INSALE BY MISFORTUNE

Suicide of Former Lieutenant in the Italian Army in the Tombs Prison.

New York, Nov. 10.—Giovanni de Chichia, who until he was compelled to choose between love and duty was a lieutenant in the Italian army, committed suicide today in the Tombs. His imprisonment had been brought about by his brother Luigi, a banker of this city. The latter believed Giovanni insane.

According to the police reports, he fell in love in Italy and, unable as an army officer to support his wife as he wished, deserted and sought his fortune as a cowboy in the American west. The venture was not a success, and finally, leaving his wife in her new home, he came to New York to get a fresh start. Again unsuccessful and penniless, he asked financial aid of his brother. The meeting of the brothers was not amicable, and at a second interview Giovanni became despondent, peremptorily demanding first $1,000, and then $2,000 from the banker. He exhibited a revolver, it was charged, and threatened his brother's life. The banker wished to have Giovanni detained as insane, but the court would not entertain this charge, and the former was held for trial on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. In the Tombs Giovanni became despondent, complained bitterly of former friends and constantly grieved for his wife, left alone in the west.

When the doors were opened to permit the prisoners to go to the yard for their daily exercise today, Giovanni, who occupied a cell on the third floor, stepped quickly out on the balcony and then sprang upon the guard rail. He dived head foremost into the jail floor, twenty-five feet below. Several hundred of his companions witnessed his death.

TRAGEDY AT BILLAR FARM

Son of New York Millionaire Dangerously Wounded by Butler, Who Killed Himself.

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 10.—John Bjorlin, butler at the Billar farm, the country home of Paul G. Thebaud, the New York commission merchant, killed himself today after he had shot and dangerously wounded his employer's son, Paul, who was visiting at the farm. The shooting was unprovoked.

The family was aroused at daybreak by two revolver shots. Young Thebaud was seen running toward the house, had struck his skull and, though dejected, had fractured and depressed the bone. The butler, stretched upon the floor, was dead with a bullet in his brain. It is believed that Thebaud will recover.
It is suggested that the butler may have lost his head while hunting supposed burglars, and hid himself in remorse when he discovered his mistake. He was 35 years of age, and had been in the family for several years.
The family believe the shooting to have been accidental. It was stated at the home tonight that Paul had not been drinking heavily. He had been enthusiastic hunter and had planned to rise early today and go on a hunting trip. The family say that Bjorlin had been drinking heavily. Their theory is that he went to Paul's room to awaken him, and in a spirit of careless fun pointed his weapon at the boy, that the revolver was accidentally discharged, and that the butler in remorse over his recklessness hid himself. Paul was 17 years old.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Street Car Conductor Kills Wife and Self at Oakland, Cal.

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 10.—Murder and suicide occurred in this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when J. C. Ehlers, street car conductor, sought out his child-wife at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Angelo Thomas, and, after a reconciliation, shot her through the heart and then turned the weapon upon himself, sending a bullet crashing into his brain, causing instant death. A child 10 months old survives the parents. Ehlers and his wife had been estranged for several months. Mrs. Ehlers returned to live with her parents. Ehlers called at the Thomas home and went to a room in the rear of the house, Ehlers locking the door. The next moment the family heard pistol shots. The door was broken open and the bodies found side by side on the floor. Ehlers was 38 years old and her husband was 23.

Authentic News That the Victims Numbered Thousands.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—The first direct reports from the scene of the great earthquake at Karatagh, Russian Turkistan, about three weeks ago, reached this city from a corporal who accompanied the relief expedition sent to Jamarkan. Telegraphing, under date of Nov. 2, the corporal says: "The town of Karatagh was completely destroyed. The victims numbered about 400 in Karatagh and about 10,000 in the adjoining district of Denauk. All the villages in the vicinity are wrecked. It is probable that there are hundreds more dead in the villages."

The victims were either blown into the air or hurled against the wooden fence, and many were killed by flying splinters. The noise of the explosion was heard for eight miles. One boat cargo also exploded and took fire, but others were worked down the river.

ALL NIGHT SERVICE.

Rexburg, Ida., People Up to Date on Electric Lights.

Rexburg, Ida., Nov. 10.—The Rexburg Light & Power company has decided to give the people an all-night electric light service again. Lately the lights have been turned off at 1 a. m., on account of the scarcity of coal. The company's agreement with the railroad is for seventy-five tons per month, but the railroad has failed to haul the agreed amount, so the electric company has concluded to return to all-night service or no light at all. Now it is up to the railroad to make good the delivery of seventy-five tons per month.

Few Failures Recorded.

One of the features of the situation thus far is the small number of failures of national banks, as compared with the record of 1893. At that time seventy-eight national banks suspended in the single month of July and sixty-three additional in June and August, while during the first eight months of 1893 the number of suspensions of state and private banks was 415. In the present crisis the number of national bank suspensions reported does not exceed a dozen and some of these will reopen.
The week closed with a favorable situation as indicated by the reports to R. G. Dun & Co. The week opens with the banking situation in New York cleared up so far as any danger of further failures or suspensions is concerned, with the banking reserves comparatively intact and with more than $25,000,000 on the ocean to strengthen them during the coming week.

HIGH RATE NOT EFFECTIVE.

Gold Continues to Flow From Germany to This Country.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—The advanced in the rate of exchange has not yet checked the American demand for gold, while cable transfers to New York are selling at lower prices than before. Exchange on London rose yesterday to 20.80, the highest price in a generation. This is due to American transactions in financial and commercial bills, the proceeds of which are transferred to London for gold purchases. It is understood that gold continues to be taken from the reichsbank in considerable amounts for American account. Dr. Koch, president of the reichsbank, informed the committees of the bank on Friday that the withdrawals for the first seven days of November amounted to more than $1,000,000 marks.
Although German investors have not yet begun to buy American shares in any considerable quantities, it is believed that they will do so as soon as it is seen that the American situation is fully restored to normal. Financiers are beginning to take a more cheerful view of the American outlook; they believe that the money pinch soon will be over and that frightened depositors will then hurry their money back into the banks. The Frankfurter Zeitung suggests that the government could speedily remove the stringency by issuing low-priced, high interest bonds, thus attracting the money now locked up, which could be loaned to the banks. This paper expresses the belief that the elasticity of the American economic life will enable a sudden recovery at a moment when the situation seems darkest.

ANTI-CLERICALS WIN OUT

Most Exciting Municipal Election in the History of Rome Occurred Yesterday.

Rome, Nov. 10.—General municipal elections were held in this city today, and it is being declared throughout Rome tonight that the anti-clericals have gained their greatest victory since the fall of the church from temporal power. Only municipal offices were filled, but the election assumed a distinct political character. Their importance was only local, but extended all through Italy. The contest came as a conclusion to the anti-clerical campaign, which had its beginning principally with the present pontificate, for the clericals were then allowed for the first time to participate in the political life of the country. There was a reactionary movement among the anti-clerical element; some of them swung over from the conservatives to the Socialists, and the municipal elections in Rome were chosen as the battlefield. Defeat being inevitable, the clericals for the first time since 1870 withdrew from the field, and as a result the anti-clerical victory was complete and without precedent.

The Vatican organs maintained that the abstention of the clerical voters was nothing more than a matter of tactics.

SHOT IN BACK KILLED HIM

Russian Meets Death at Hands of His Wife, Whom He Had Mistreated.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 10.—Miron Glaze, a Russian, known here as Berg, was shot in the back and killed today in rooms occupied by himself, his wife and six-year-old child, at 239 Eleventh street, this city. Mrs. Glaze is in the hospital. She is in a delicate condition and is bordering on nervous prostration. It is the belief of the police that the woman caused the death of her husband in self-defense, although she asserts that he committed suicide. The police base their supposition on the fact that the husband and wife had been quarreling all day and that they had been summoned to the house twice before the tragedy occurred on complaint of the wife, who feared that her husband would kill her.

So far as the killing itself is concerned little can be learned. Mrs. Glaze recovered consciousness tonight, but her story is incoherent. She makes allusions to attempts by her husband to compel her to swallow a prominent business man of this city and of her refusal, as a result of which her husband struck her. Enough was gathered from her to learn that her husband was recently a well-to-do merchant in Moscow, Russia, that he had committed some crime and with his family had fled to Japan by way of Siberia. Mrs. Glaze also makes reference to the police of Japan in such a way as to cause belief that he was wanted there. The couple then came to San Francisco and from there went to Los Angeles and back. While in San Francisco the second time Mrs. Glaze caused the man's arrest for mistreating her.

They arrived here about a week ago. Although Mrs. Glaze has a fine wardrobe and her husband had good clothes, they were evidently almost penniless. Mrs. Glaze is well educated, possesses a fine singing voice and is a fine-looking man. The district attorney stated tonight he would not lodge a charge against the woman until after the coroner's jury had rendered a verdict.

LODGES LOCATED HIM.

Missouri Arrested for Pretending to Be Dead.

Warsaw, Mo., Nov. 10.—Charles Kullman, who disappeared on July 9, 1901, and the payment of whose life insurance for $5,000 was contested by the Modern Woodmen of America and the Macabees on the ground that he was still living, was arrested in Oregon City, Ore., Nov. 9, by Insurance Detective Clouse and he will return to his home in Benton county, Missouri, having waived extradition. Kullman disappeared after staying alone from Hoquiam, Wash., and attorneys had family made numerous trips to Washington and seemed certain that Kullman was dead.
Kullman has been using the name of Charles Taylor and has been in the logging camps of the northwest. Two years ago the Kullman family won one of the insurance suits and this year another case was decided against the family. Kullman was prominent in Benton county before his disappearance, having been a candidate for county collector, and also publisher of the Warsaw Times. A reward of $1,000 was offered for his body. He is 35 years old.

A nervous person is always at a disadvantage. The steady nerves of the influential, well liked individual, are the envy of the timid, cold-skinned person who lacks initiative and red blood.

Coffee is a common cause of "cold hands and feet," nervous trepidity, etc.

What a delightful change it is to feel the power of warm blood and strong nerves! Stop drinking coffee for a week or ten days, and drink Postum Food Coffee as the table beverage.

Make your Postum strong and rich—boil it 15 minutes or longer—then, with good cream and piping hot, it is delicious and wholesome, too. Contains no coffee or other drug (caffeine is the drug in coffee), but only the food elements of clean, roasted wheat and a small amount of molasses.

HAS PRINCE ON THE STRING

Rumor That Anna Gould Has Married Again Current in Paris, but Probably Untrue.

Paris, Nov. 10.—There is every reason to believe that the report to the effect that Mme. Anna Gould, who was recently divorced from Count Boni de Castellane, has been married to Prince Helle de Sagan is untrue. A representative of the Associated Press went today to St. Cher, where the Chateau de Marais, Mme. Gould's country house, is situated. He was told that she was ill and could see no one.
Mme. Gould has been entertaining at the chateau for some weeks past, and on last Friday she gave a hunt to a large party. The Prince de Sagan has been a constant visitor at the chateau, usually calling there about every ten days.
